

Branded LinkedIn Makeover: How to make a great first and lasting impression

With over 350 million members on LinkedIn, and 2 new LinkedIn members per second, it is now the first destination for those who want to check out your credentials, long before you've had that digital handshake. It has become the most important personal branding tool out there for the discerning professional therefore having any old profile is no longer enough. It has to stand out if you want to make a great first and lasting impression.

We understand why LinkedIn is a challenge because

It changes regularly without any warning and is not always user-friendly. In fact, at best, it can be intimidating as it's not easy to find answers such what's best size for my photo? Can I just put my CV online and that's it? How do I get to the magic 500+ connections? How do I get myself a vanity URL? Should I accept every random request or even how do I get a recommendation?

Unlike most LinkedIn training, the Branded LinkedIn Makeover is designed and based on sound personal branding principles. It also provides context so delegates can build an efficient profile with a plan to integrate into their overall social media strategy.

We've developed an interactive workshop which will help you maximise the value of LinkedIn to attract and connect with decision makers as you learn how to make your profile more visible. Once you have the basics, it just takes a little tinkering to keep it looking as good as new all the time. We'll show you how.
